HONOR WILL OUT

When is an honorary organization not an honorary one? When it becomes a political machine or a purely social order. The inonorary organization which honestly attempts to fulfill the purpose for which it was founded is an asset to any campus; that one which exists purely for the purpose of advancing individuals to personal conspicuity or merely as an excuse for another place to go is, indeed, a liability

The basic idea in the formation of an honorary order is that of rewarding with membership those whose work in their particular field has been of high merit. In return for this honor, the student receiving it is expected to give his best efforts toward the furtherance of the interests of this field or occupation. One of his best possibilities iribution to the university's plan of of doing so is to become a faithful rifle team has climaxed a notably ganization and to help in every way standard for which it strives.

He who enters such an organization with no idea other than that list, or that of providing himself once wrote on a placecard and sent with a flattering number of social nificance and usefulness of such an order. There are those who, given the opportunity to join, are not interested in such an organization; if they are not, and do not intend to work with it and for it, the best status for them to retain is that of not becoming affiliated.

Many honorary organizations are holding pledging and initiation services for the Spring season and choosing those who are to be memyear. That they should choose with neophytes, need hardly be remark-

The identity of the broad jumpers for the meet Saturday will re-main a deep, dark secret until the Y, morning of the meet, as the coach s very busy working on several omising boys. The "Shipwreck's fitness to take part in this event is also doubtful, and if so, the Cards will probably win the evevnt. John Mains has brought strength the shot putting department with ils long heaves of 42 feet and beter; he once tossed the big ball 43 feet and seems a sure bet to win several events this season. Johnny Epps, the other man in this event, s also a capable performer. Ken will show the way in the discus throw. Epps will be the other discuss thrower. Andrews' best dis-tance this year was achieved in the rials Wednesday, when he flipped the dlsk 115 feet The starter for the meet will be E. Potter, freshman track coach; the judges will be announced later. The strength of the vis-itors is unknown, but one man who caused the 'Cats lots of trouble last year is back—a half miler and miler. He beat Jake O'Bryant In the 880 run last year. Rumors have been received that the Cardinals have a nice crop of sophomores on hand and will give the 'Cats a

Resolution Passed

Men's Student Counci Condemns Action of Liberal Club

Denouncing the recent activiin regard to that organization's publicizing its favoritism toward foreign student parties investisating conditions in the Bell and Harian county coal fields, the Men's Student council, meeting Thursday in the Administration building, passed resolutions re-questing publications in local to cooperate with the university in suppressing such undesirable publicity.

The resolution:
"In view of the fact that the so called University of Kentucky Liberal club is not a recognized organization either by the students or by university authorities, and since members of this club, prompted more by a desire for publicity for themselves than for the welfare of the university have caused unfavorable comment against that institution in some sections of the state, we, the Men's Student council of the University of Kentucky, wish to condemn their actions as being unworthy of University of Kentucky students; that their past actions and future actions in reference to the delegations of college students visiting the Kentucky mining districts not be interpreted as an expression of the viewpoint of the student body, and that you refuse to give them any publicity in your papers as being a part of the University of Kentucky."

Jennings, somewhat older than the other players, is working for a Ph. D. when he is not playing tennis.

Downing expects to have the fin-est team he has ever had, but he is not as sure of his number one and two positions as he was last year. Last season, Kee won eight out of nine matches as number one player, which greatly strengthened the team, but the three, four and five positions were not as successful. This year the last named three positions are much stronger and Downing counts on them to win

The work on the hardwood indoor floor has not hindered the tennis team in the least, but the players experienced a peculiar situation when they worked on the clay courts. Indoors the ball bounds rapidly and the game is much faster: the wood tired them quickly but outdoors the ball had the ap-pearance of floating through the air, which slows the game.
